

Two great companies merge as one

Dear Valued Client,

On 20th August 2018 Advertising Specialties have merged with Desktop Promotional Products and will trade as Desktop Promotional Products and be located at their modern offices and warehouse at North Parramatta.

We are also pleased to advise that Aaron Jarrett who has been caring for the promotional products for a wide range of customers for many years will join the sales team of Desktop. We believe the new arrangement will bring better service and a yet wider range of products to serve you in your business.

By merging together, we will be able to support your success even more, with a wider network, more innovative solutions, greater expertise and a broader range of products and services.

In a constantly changing world, we know that you need strong partners with a deeper understanding of your business to deliver your promotional and marketing outcomes. We've come together to deliver just that.

We take this opportunity to thank you for trusting us with your business and are confident that we can provide you with an improved and greater product selection as we move forward together.

Yours sincerely

John K Anderson and Eric R Thorncroft

About Adspec:

AdSpec have 11 years' experience in the promotional marketing industry with a commitment to personal service and unparalleled scope and ability to source, produce and deliver just about anything with a logo on it. We are a dynamic team eager to provide products and services to meet any expectation.

About Desktop:

DPP has specialised in supplying Promotional Merchandise to a wide variety of organisations and industries since 1993. With warehouse and offices located at North Parramatta they offer a full warehouse and distribution service for clients Australia wide. Desktop also offers a full webstore program, customised to suit your requirements.